Priority Area 3	Japan-Malaysia Development Partnership beyond the Asian region
Development Issue 1-3 Japan-Malaysia Development Partnership Beyond the Region	[Background and Current Situation]          Since 2010, the Malaysian Ministry of Foreign Affairs has been providing assistance, including technical cooperation, to other countries, and is working to strengthen political and economic ties with those countries.          Japan's cooperation in supporting Malaysian own developing countries assistance will contribute to enhancing the country's aid capacity. The two countries are now at the stage of further strengthening their relationship as partners in the development of the international community.					[Strategy]          Japan aims to build a mutual relationship with Malaysia to develop new solutions to global issues by bringing together our strengths, having dialogue, and working together. For this purpose, Japan supports Malaysia's initiative to provide technical assistance to third countries including regions outside Asia, such as Africa and middle-east countries.          This support will be made at cost-sharing basis by both countries, but the two countries will also consider the possibility of cost-sharing by the beneficiary countries (third countries).
